

Vodafone mobile acceptable use policy

This acceptable use policy covers your usage obligations for your Vodafone Pay monthly or Pay as you go services. It forms part of your contract with us, along with your terms and charges guide. This policy sets out your usage obligations, what you can do to avoid breaching the policy and what happens if your usage is deemed to breach the policy.

Use of our services

You have an obligation to use our services for private, personal, and legitimate consumer purposes only. Failure to adhere to the policy may mean a loss of, or restriction to your service. Below is a non-exhaustive list of your obligations and the types of activity which you should avoid.

- Make sure you use our services and SIM cards for private, personal and legitimate consumer purposes only. You must not use our services or SIM cards for business purposes

Don't make calls or send texts in relation to the marketing, promotion or administration of a business, group or organisation, or for any non-private/non-personal purpose. For example, sending bulk texts to a customer base, or a non-private/non-personal group distribution list. Make an excessive number of calls to an unusually large number of recipients, with the intention of promoting a business or service, or non-personal purpose would constitute use of our service for non-personal consumer use and would also be in breach of this policy.

- You must not use our services or SIM cards to generate artificially inflated traffic, or to send automated or unsolicited text messages

Don't send abnormally high volumes of texts, send texts to an unusually large number of recipients, send large volumes of texts in a short space of time, or send SPAM texts. These are examples of usage which would be a breach of this policy.

- You must not resell our services. You're not to use, or allow anyone else to use, our services or SIM cards to contact numbers that pay any type of revenue (including, but not limited to, call forwarding services, concurrent calling, paging services, onward calling services)

Don't make unusually high volumes of calls, or making calls to earn financial revenue or other reward.

- You must not establish, install or use a gateway device, application, or SIM box (including devices tethered via cable, Bluetooth or Wi-Fi, to a computer or the internet for the purposes of making large volumes of calls or sending large volumes of texts)

Don't use gateway devices, applications, or SIM boxes to send automated messages, or to make automated calls.

- You must not use our services or SIM cards for fraudulent or criminal purposes, or in a way that's in breach of law (including making calls, sending messages or posting or downloading content which is, offensive, defamatory, indecent or a nuisance)

Don't use our services in any way which would be a breach of this policy. For example: making nuisance calls, illegal file-sharing or downloads, or viewing illegal content.

- Use of our services while in our Europe Zone (excluding the UK), Roam-free or Roam-further destinations is intended for temporary, periodic travel such as holidays and short breaks

Don't use your SIM outside the UK for prolonged periods of time. You shouldn't be using our services for extended periods of travel, or if you're permanently residing outside the UK

- If you use our services outside of the UK for more than 50% of a rolling four-month period we'll send you a text requesting that you moderate your use of our services.
- If your use of our services outside the UK continues to exceed 50% of your total usage in the two weeks following such a request, this usage will fall outside our acceptable use policy and we'll impose further charges on your account or reserve the right to disconnect or restrict your service.

What happens if your usage falls outside the acceptable usage policy?

If we suspect you're not adhering to our Acceptable Use Policy, we reserve the right to impose further charges on you and/or disconnect your SIM card or contract at any time.

We may also restrict access to just one part of your service (for example, restrict your use of our text service if we believe you have sent text messages that are in breach of this policy).

We'll attempt to contact you if we need to disconnect your service.

Data

If you're using the service in a way which we believe is harmful to our network we may introduce certain traffic management measures such as throttling which might reduce your speed, reduce access to your services, impose further charges on your account or we may disconnect your SIM. We will attempt to notify you before any disconnection takes place.
